Gathering and transmitting American news to the U.S.S.R.

Our news sources includes: the despatches of American news agencies with which we have contractual relations (the Associated Press and the United Press); newspapers published in New York, Washington and various other cities of the United States and Latin America; magazines and other periodicals; press releases and reports issued by governmental and private agencies and institutions. In addition, our correspondents directly cover important press conferences, public meetings and other developments when circumstances and our resources permit. For instance, TASS correspondents cover the more important meetings of the United Nations Security Council and other United Nations bodies; our correspondents in Washington cover White House and State Department press conferences and important congressional debates, etc.

On the basis of these sources, we write our daily news reports. After the reports are written and edited, they are transmitted through the usual commercial communications channels. At the present time, almost our entire wordage goes through RCA. Occasionally when RCA communications are disrupted, we transmit via Press Wireless or Western Union. Besides our daily cable service, we transmit mail articles on subjects of a less "spot" character. Our area of coverage includes Latin America as well as the United States and our reports about Latin America are based on the despatches of the American news agencies as well as on Latin American newspapers and periodicals. We also transmit a commercial service, giving prices of grains, bristles, furs etc., and other commercial and economic news. All of our news is transmitted to our home office in Moscow for distribution to TASS clients. We distribute nothing in the United States, except for supplying copies of our news messages to the Soviet Embassy in Washington.
